

Qualities of a Good Observer or Collector

Search carefully, disturbing the surroundings as little as possible.

Handle only a few, but look at many living things.

Replace overturned logs and stones.

Carefully return the living things to their natural habitat after your study.

Do not pick wild flowers; draw them or photograph instead.