

Research Question: What makes smart city inclusive for children?

1. Below are features of an inclusive community for children. Which do you think is the most important?

It has to include organized playgroups, sports teams, or community events for children.

Children are taught to respect and appreciate differences.

Children need to feel safe and comfortable in their environment.

Children can engage by volunteering and participating in community projects or attending community gatherings.

Children and their families can access educational resources, health services, or social services.

2. Have you been to Msheireb Downtown? Which among the following features did you find there? Tick as many as applicable.

safe and welcoming environment

gives opportunities for play and socialization

encourages participation and engagement

embraces diversity and differences

provides resources and support

3. Is there any feature of Msheireb Downtown you wish to be more accessible to a child like yourself?
 - a. playground
 - b. mosque
 - c. shopping mall
 - d. restroom
 - e. If others, please specify: _____

4. In case of emergency, how do you think you can contact someone in a smart city?
 - a. calling
 - b. sending an email
 - c. similar to any other city
 - d. faster using better technology
 - e. If others, please specify: _____

5. Which among the following should we consider in making an inclusive play area for children in a smart city? Tick all that apply.

	Speaking to community members
	Accessible equipment also to those with physical challenges
	Sensory play: include areas for sand, water and musical play
	Shade and seating
	Universal design (example ramps and handrails on stairs)
	Clear signage
	Involve the community in the design